The Bunnyguards on Board

Erkan and Stefan make it to the final round of star-host Hardy Flanders' immensely popular Game Show „THAT TAKES THE CAKE“. The contestants are usually humiliated but the winner always gets an attractive surprise-prize. In contrast to Erkan, Stefan is a devoted fan of Hardy Flanders. Behind the scenes of the show – and unknown to the public, a drama takes place: the high-handed, ever-grinning Flanders has just fired his producer, Karin Schwartau, who has misappropriated prize-money.

To everyone's surprise, our boys beat the undefeated champion ALEX in the final and win. When Flanders gives his winners the choice of 100.000 Euro in cash or the super-surprise-prize, Stefan makes a spontaneous and really "surprising" decision...

Erkan & Stefan board the cruise ship "TS Albatros" and everything seems perfect: Good vibes, Babes, Captain's dinner, clay-pigeon shooting and in the middle of everything... Hardy Flanders, who is supposed to be their host for a party-filled week. Erkan still can't believe that his friend has chosen the cruise over the cash and the star-host's macho manners are slowly making him puke. After yet another boring fart-joke by Flanders during the Captain's dinner, Erkan can't help but threaten Flanders in front of all guests.

Stefan, however, is in heaven – his biggest idol resides in the cabin next door - but just when Stefan wants to propose his brand-new, ultra-cool concept for a game-show to Flanders, he finds the star-host dead in his bathroom. Our two homies realise quickly that they must look like prime murder suspects to everyone else and so they decide to keep Flanders "alive" for the rest of the cruise. As if that wasn't difficult enough, the real killer is still on the loose...
